

Quintessence offers two types of journal subscriptions to institutes, universities, schools, and libraries: The Institute Subscription with a printed issue including online access via login (username+password), and the Site License for campus-wide, IP-based online access.

Institute Subscription

- Print issue: Delivery of the printed issue on request (print subscription or e-paper subscription).
- Online access: Access via login (username+password). The login can be used within the institute but cannot be passed on to third parties. However, only one simultaneous user is allowed.
- Concurrent online users: One concurrent user.
- Multiple locations: Access is restricted to the location of the institute, e.g. the library.
- Registration: Online use requires a one-time registration on our platform by providing your name, email address, and customer number:

FAQs about registration:

- Multiple subscriptions: Customers with multiple subscriptions receive only one customer number and are required to register only once during the entire subscription period.
- Processing time: Online access becomes active one day after registration.

Site License

- Print issue: Delivery of the printed issue on request.
- Online access: IP-based access:
 - Multiple IP addresses and IP ranges can be activated.
 - IPv4 and IPv6 addresses are possible.
 - Proxy servers are allowed.
- Concurrent online users: No limit.
- Multiple sites: No limit.
- Registration: Registration is not necessary. IP-based access is set up by Quintessence.
